LOCAL BRIEFS

The county jail is filling up with subjects for the January term of Superior court.

The ARGUS regrets to chronicle the death of Mr. Kirby Hill, 17 years of age, son of our esteemed friend and countyman Rev. Jacob F. Hill, who, we are sorry to learn, is himself critically ill.

The murderous knife of Sam Wright was found last Thursday under the clay root of the blown down tree in the woods; just where he told the editor of the ARGUS in his last confession it could be found.

Mr. John R. Smith is having three new rooms added to his residence in this city and also water works put in and considerable painting done with a view to moving his family back to their old home here.

The price of cotton is so low that many traveling men are being called in by their houses. The merchants refuse to buy goods, as they see no hopes of selling them. When king cotton is de-throned, verily the people mourn.

Poor old Editor Dana is dead, and everybody will join in the charitable hope that his sins are forgiven, but the tentacle of the great octopus which reaches out toward the South, in the person of the New York Sun paragrapher, shows signs of malignant vitality and ferocious activity.

A large wagon load of home made hay, nicely baled, was visible and for sale on this market Friday. It was a gratifying sight, indeed, and in the midst of low cotton, and with rice and peanuts also on the market, it was cheering evidence that our farmers are learning the virtue and value of diversified crops.

POLICEMAN Tudor gave a hog thief a long chase from New Town last Thursday, and finally, after running through back lots and jumping fences he captured his man and locked him up. He is a colored gentleman and answers to the name of George Carr. He had a hog in his possession that belonged to Isaiah Artist.

ELDER J. W. Gardner, a Primitive Baptist divine of this city, was called to Greene county last week to perform the marriage ceremony for two couples, who were Mr. Arthur Jones to Miss Mary Gray, and Mr. John H. Ham to Miss Maggie Smith. The happy event occurred at the home of Mr. Perrott H. Gray, and both couples were married at the same time.

THE tax-paying time is at hand. There is no reason in the world why people should be so pushed to pay their taxes. Of course men should pay their taxes, but the payment should be made as easy as possible. Things will not be always thus. The people, yes, the people cannot always be declined. Let good and wise men be sent to the legislature, and they will remedy many of the ills that we now have.

His many friends in this city and throughout a widespread territory of this section will be glad to learn that Dr. J. S. Bizzell has returned from Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, completely restored to his wonted health and vigor. The doctor is a member of the well-known and popular firm of Bizzell Bros. & Co., who enjoy the confidence of an army of customers and a steadily increasing trade. The tax books show that they pay the largest Merchant tax of any firm in Goldsboro.

WEDDING BELLS.

THE immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present last night to witness the marriage of Mr. E. F. Sasser to Miss Ella Tew, the eldest daughter of Mr. John Tew. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Bristow, the popular pastor of St. John church, and took place at the home of the bride, after which the bridal party repaired to the home of the groom's mother Mrs. Maxeline Hooks, where refreshments were served and the evening passed pleasantly. The happy couple have many young friends in this vicinity who wish for them all the happiness that married life can give.—Daily Argus, Nov. 11

NEGRO DESPERADO.

A NEGRO desperado from Samson county, who is a fugitive from justice over there, has been terrorizing the good people of Grantham township for some days—especially women and children, the women being afraid to be left alone in their homes, and the children to go to school, last Friday Sheriff Scott went out in search of the man, and that night went to the house of the man's wife, with several deputies surrounding it, but the negro could not be found. His wife said he had gone back over in Samson. She told the sheriff that she would send her husband word not to come back to Wayne again. But in case he does come back he is sure of being captured.

A CONVERTED REPUBLICAN.

Old Jonathan Norcross, one of Atlanta's first mayors, a man of wealth, a native of New England, a life-long Republican, and the gubernatorial candidate of his party in Georgia in 1872, has just published a long article in which he earnestly advocates the removal of the negroes to Africa. Mr. Norcross says that it is dangerous for a superior race to be among millions of an inferior race among them. He is convinced that the negroes, after a generation of freedom, are not fit to vote and hold office, and he does not regard them as safe, reliable and useful citizens.

It is recommended by this sturdy Republican that the Government appropriate fifteen or twenty millions of dollars a year for a long time to come, to aid the negroes in migrating to Africa and establishing them there. Unless this is done, he fears that in the future there will be serious trouble between the races.

Without discussing some of the interesting points raised by this proposition, it is of interest to note the fact that it comes from an intelligent Northern Republican who has studied the negro question in the South for the past forty years.

The article cannot fail to attract attention in the North, and it will probably be discussed in the leading newspapers of that section in a very lively fashion.

THE PENSION BURDEN.

According to the latest figures, the government has paid out over four billions of dollars in pensions since the close of the war. Pensioners hardly ever die. Seven veterans of the war of 1812 are still left, and there are 2,800 widows of such soldiers. In fact, there are now fifteen widows of revolutionary soldiers drawing pensions.

It is estimated that four billion dollars more will be paid out before the country gets through with the union veterans of the late war. These figures are appalling, and it is no wonder that the masses feel this enormous drain. It is especially hard on the South, as the pensioners live in the North, and spend their money there.

Year after year the pension department grows more extravagant. It pays deserters, bounty jumpers, and recently a man was found drawing $100 a month, who served only sixteen days in the war, and broke his ankle by falling from a wagon. The newspapers should expose this injustice and extravagance, until the leading soldiers of the union side will unite in demanding a reform.

The pension roll should be a roll of honor, but it will never be that until steps are taken to purge it. Four billion dollars more for this fraudulently conducted business. That was the value of the entire slave property of the South in 1860. It is a monstrous sum, and three-fourths of it is an unjust tax.

Monkeys are useless if trifled away, and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. J. H. Hill & Son, Goldsboro and Jno. R. Smith, Mt. Olive

They All Come Back To Hood's Sarsaparilla

There are fads in medicine as well as in other things, said a busy druggist, "but the most remarkable thing about Hood's Sarsaparilla is that customers who try other remedies all come back to Hood's, and this is why the enormous sales of this great medicine keep up and continue the whole year round, steady as a clock."

"Why is it?" "O, simply because Hood's Sarsaparilla has more real curative merit than any medicine I ever sold."

This is of daily occurrence in almost every drug store. Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured more sickness, and made more happiness through restoration to health than any other medicine.

Those gentlemen who expect Congress to make quick work of China question fail to explain how they will drag the matter out of the Committee on Rules.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away.

If you want to quit tobacco using easily and forever, to be made well, strong, magnetic, full of new life and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder worker that makes weak men strong. Many gain ten pounds in ten days. Over 40,000 cured. Buy No-To-Bac of your druggist and guarantee to cure, 50 cents or $1. Booklet and sample mailed Free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co. Chicago or New York.

Those persons who cannot understand how Martin Thorn could so deliberately back a human being to pieces evidently overlook the fact that he is a barber by trade.

When bilious or constive, eat a cascarat candy cathartic, cure guaranteed 10c, 25 cents.

The friends of Murderer Durrant complain that the court was too precipitate in fixing the time for his execution. The friends of the late Blanche Lamont feel that Durrant has had much more consideration in that line than he accorded his victim.

That is the way all druggists sell GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC for Chills and all forms of fevers—Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children will take it. Adults prefer it to bitter man sitting tonic. Price 50c. J. H. Hill & Son, Goldsboro, N. C.

Mr. Grosvenor's explanation of how it happened got in on schedule time, and is quite entertaining, but we fear it will not induce Mr. Foraker to enter the realms of broad Statesmanship.

Scrofula is the advertisement of foul blood. It may be entirely driven from the system by the faithful use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which thoroughly purifies the blood.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to get, cure indigestion, biliousness, etc.

We infer from the valued Baltimore Sun that it is beginning to fear that Mr. Gorman will refuse to stay locked.

Itch on human, mange on horses, dogs and all stock, cure in 30 minutes by Woodford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by M. E. Robinson & Son, Goldsboro, N. C.

With the tempting price of $50,000 on his head President Hanna doubtless thinks to look under the bed before retiring.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys, and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe, 10c.

Now that Mr. Hanna has national honor almost preserved, do the Ohio people propose to turn in and undo all the good work?

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure, 25c.

Woods grow of themselves, but the best fruits and the sweetest flowers are the result of hard toil.

Just try a 10c box of Cascarets, the finest liver and bowel regulator ever used.

Sam Jones says the Kentucky Barriers who declare there is no personal devil doesn't know what he is talking about. Jones believes he has been engaged in a Graeco-Roman tussle with his particular esteemed contemporary for a number of years past.

Everybody Says So. Cascarets Candy Cathartic, the most wonderful medical discovery of the age, pleasant and refreshing to the taste, act gently and positively on the bowels, cleanse the system, dispel colds, cure headache, fever, habitual constipation and all biliousness. Please buy and try box of C. C. to-day! 10c, 25c, 50c. Sold and guaranteed to cure by all druggists.

In the opinion of Mr. Hanna no man ever had such an opportunity to exhibit broad statesmanship as the one which now confronts Mr. Foraker, but the latter continues to skate about the suburbs of the situation.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Governor Says What to Give Thanks for and Who to Remember.

The signal and abundant blessings of the Sovereign Ruler of all nations throughout the year now closing declare the liberty and impose the duty of setting apart a special day for praise and thanksgiving.

In addition to His many mercies, our State has been spared strikes, disasters contagious and internal strife; our people have been blessed with bountiful harvests; many of them with peaceful and happy homes and they have been vouchsafed progress in the promotion of education and the full preservation of their religious freedom, and, to some extent, the retention of their civil and political liberties as citizens of the Republic.

Therefore, I, Daniel L. Russell, Governor of the State of North Carolina, in conformity to a time-honored custom, do designate and appoint Thursday, the 25th of November, 1897, as a day of public Thanksgiving; and I do exhort all good citizens to assemble on that day around their firesides or at their several places of worship and there remember "the giver of every good and perfect gift," and render unto Him their praise and gratitude for "His goodness and mercy" which "endureth forever," and beseech of Him an oversight and guidance that will enable us to be more worthy of the manifold blessings already enjoyed and of those which, through His loving kindness, He hath in store for us; not forgetting the poor and needy, the sick and the afflicted, and those who may be oppressed or deprived of equal opportunities by such of their fellowmen as may be in possession of privileges and prerogatives that are not consistent with the fundamental principles of free government and are not sanctioned by the laws of God.

Done at our city of Raleigh, on this, the ninth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, and in the one hundred and twenty-second year of our American Independence.

DANIEL L. RUSSELL.
By the Governor:
Joe E. Alexander,
Private Secretary.

President McKinley is very much concerned in the fate of his friend, Senator Hanna, and is making eager inquiries of all arrivals from Ohio gain admittance to his office. Much to the President's annoyance, he has learned from some prominent Ohio Republicans that Mr. Hanna's return to the Senate is considerably in doubt. The information led him to utter an earnest protest and to insist that Senator Hanna should be saved, if such a thing were possible.

THE ALL COTTON FOLLY.

The New Orleans Picayune says that the present price of cotton, the lowest with one exception in fifty years, suggests some important considerations. The most important of these is the necessity that the Southern farmers should raise their own supplies.

The immense cotton crop of 1894 drove the price to the lowest point it has ever touched and it seemed that this bitter experience taught the farmers a valuable lesson. The next year they reduced their cotton acreage largely and raised greater food crops. The result was that cotton brought nearly twice as much in 1895 as it brought in 1894. Not only this but the farmers had less to buy than ever before. Thus they found a double profit from the wise policy they adopted in the spring of 1895. The Picayune says:

"One would have imagined that the Southern farmers, profiting by experience, would have continued the policy of producing all supplies at home and making cotton as much a surplus crop as possible; but, with a lack of prudence which is astonishing, they promptly drifted back to

CONDEMNED.

When an innocent man is condemned for any crime he doesn't lose hope. His lawyer appeals from one court to another. They are bound to save him, if he can be saved. It is the same way with a good doctor who is condemned to death by disease.

But doctors make mistakes sometimes; they lose heart too soon. After they have tried everything they know and the patient no better, they think there is nothing more to be done. They get at the root of the disease. They frequently give a patient up for lost.

Mr. W. B. Duncan, of Arlington, Phelps Co., N. C., writes: "I had taken four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery when I was very weak and thin, and I was very thankful that such a medicine could be found. It has made me strong and healthy. I shall always be a grateful subscriber to your medicine."

All lung and bronchial diseases are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, because it supplies the system with healthy blood, it puts the vital forces into action and fills the circulation with the life-giving red corpuscles which build up solid, muscular flesh and healthy nerves.

As a medical author, Dr. Pierce holds an eminent place in his profession. "His great thousand-page illustrated book, 'The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser' is written in plain, simple, and easy-to-understand English language. Nearly 700,000 copies were sold at $1.50 each. A paper-bound edition will be sent absolutely free for the cost of mailing only 21 one-cent stamps; or, for $1.00, a copy of the book will be sent by mail. Address: Dr. J. C. DURRANT'S LEASE OF LIFE.

The Execution Cannot Take Place Before the Latter Part of February Next.

San Francisco, November 12.—In view of the fact that the Supreme Court which is now in session at Sacramento will adjourn on Tuesday next until the second Monday in January, it is not considered probable that W. H. T. Durrant, the condemned murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams will expire the crime for which he was sentenced to be hanged in December, 1897 during present year. In the ordinary course of events the matter cannot come up for hearing upon the points in the order granting the certificate of probable cause, to which Durrant owes his second lease of life, until the middle of January.

After the case has been decided, another thirty days at least must intervene before the remittur from the Supreme Court can reach the trial court and the condemned man be resentenced for the second time. This course would not allow the execution to take place before the latter part of February or the first of March next. It is possible that the Attorney General may apply to the Supreme Court to advance the case, but this action is unlikely.

Meantime Durrant has been removed from the condemned cell and returned to his old cell, No. 1 in Murderers' Row, at San Quentin.

Cures Kidney & Bladder Trouble.

Thousands of such cases have been cured by the use of Botanic Blood Balm ("B. B. B.") If you doubt it, call or send to the Company whose advertisement appears in this paper, and they will, for a one-cent stamp, send you a book of wonderful cures, not only of the above diseases, but of all manner of ailments arising from impure blood. It is the standard remedy for the cure of all blood and skin diseases. 1 per large bottle. For sale at J. H. Hill & Son, Goldsboro, N. C.

It would be a good thing if Mrs. Mack and Martin Thorn should each cause the other to be electrocuted.

Andree is staying a long time, probably collecting data for the lectures he will deliver on his return.

the old plan of putting as much ground as possible in cotton, with the result is that the extra labor and expense will be utterly lost, and the large yield will not smaller returns than those of the past two years.

"The Picayune does not believe that the proper policy for the South to pursue is to systematically limit the cotton production. Such a policy would be manifestly to the advantage of our competitors, who would be able to thrive and extend their cotton cultivation under the stimulating effects of the high prices our course would produce. But a policy of growing all supplies at home, diversifying crops, and making cotton as much as possible a surplus crop, is a very different thing from a mere restriction of acreage. The idea is to make it possible to grow cheap cotton at a profit. Thereby forcing all competitors out of the market and retaining for the south the control of the cotton market."

"Did the farmers make themselves self-sustaining by the production at home of all supplies, they would be less affected by the fluctuations in the cotton market, and would be better able to hold their cotton when spinners seemed disposed to force down prices by holding off, as they are doing at present. As long as the farmers are compelled by their necessities to force their cotton on the market, just so long will the control of prices remain with the consumer, and not with them. When, however, they are in a position to market their product deliberately, and to hurry forward or withhold shipments at their pleasure, they will be able to command satisfactory prices. A little holding back of cotton at the present juncture would have a very wholesome effect on prices, and it is pretty safe to say that all who can will hold, as past experience has proven that when the reaction comes from a decline, such as has been experienced this season, it is likely to be considerable and prolonged."

There is a volume of sound sense in these few words.

It is indeed passing strange that the contrast between their experience in 1894 and that of the next year did not have a lasting effect on the policy of our farmers. If they had pursued the same course in 1896 and 1897, they did two years ago the South would now be better off by many millions of dollars.

Let us hope that the plain lesson of low cotton now once more presented may have the effect of making it more of a surplus crop next year.

A Truthful Statement.

An excellent and invaluable remedy, for the cure of cough, cold and hoarseness, is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, and Mr. Jas. Hadfield, 350 West St., New York City, verifies this statement. He writes: "Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a most excellent remedy for cough, cold and hoarseness, and I take great pleasure in recommending it to all, who require such a valuable household medicine." Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is sold everywhere for 25 cents.
